
Figure 1: Mean weight update norms (||Δw||) for clean and poisoned clients across three training conditions, evaluated at 20% poisoning (left) and 40% poisoning (right). Each bar represents the mean L2 norm of the client weight update vector, with error bars indicating the standard deviation. The Δ annotations denote the absolute difference in mean update norms between clean and poisoned clients within each condition.